TPN was honoured to welcome former President of Estonia Hendrik Ilves who led discussion on how Europe needs to strengthen cyber resilience. President Ilves, with impeccable credentials across the transatlantic diplomatic, political, security and digital landscape, shared important insights on how the EU should frame the right security and regulatory environment to ensure that enterprises, governments and civil society alike all contribute and benefit from strengthening cyber resilience – while avoiding sometimes unintended consequences and unwanted spillover effects.

TPN Roundtable
With President Toomas Hendrik Ilves, former President of Estonia
The future of Europe’s cyber resilience.
January 31st 2024